If you're looking for advice, before you get in touch, please read below - you'll probably find what you need. Remember, we're not legally qualified so we won't be able to tell you more than is below.

- Please check out our Flow Charts https://www.specialneedsjungle.com/flow-chart/
- For phone advice, you could try Contact A Family's Advice Line http://www.cafamily.org.uk/advice-and-support/sen-national-advice-service/
- You can also try your local IASS service who will be able to give you advice. Find your local service here: https://councilfordisabledchildren.org.uk/information-advice-and-support-services-network
- Or, if it's legal help around SEND law, get in touch with IPSEA http://www.ipsea.org.uk/
- Or http://www.sossen.org.uk
- AUTISM: If your child has autism, the NAS Education Service may be able to help: NAS http://www.autism.org.uk/our-services/advice-and-information-services/education-rights-service.aspx

In all cases, please tell them you were referred by Special Needs Jungle.

Additionally, on the SNJ site:

- You will find answers to many questions about SEND in our Ask IPSEA Answers: https://www.specialneedsjungle.com/ask-ipsea/ipseas-legal-agony-answers/
- And answers about EHCPs in our EHCP clinic: https://www.specialneedsjungle.com/ehcp-transfer-clinic/
- We also have lots of advice on our Get Started page https://www.specialneedsjungle.com/get-prepared/
- If you would like to speak to other local parents who may be able to help you with local help and resources, contact your local Parent Carer Forum. You can find it from this page: http://www.nnpcf.org.uk/who-we-are/
- *If you can afford a solicitor, I recommend SEN Legal, Boyes Turner SEN, Douglas Silas, HCB solicitors. A quick google will reveal their websites. Barrister, Steve Broach, has an article about SEN lawyers ere: https://rightsinreality.wordpress.com/2014/09/13/solicitors-with-expertise-in-disability-and-sen-cases
